

New economic trends and realities

Kuroda International Consulting
Takeshi Kuroda

The new economic tide has a transformation and a restructuring in a new standard of reality. These are fundamental shifts in the foundation of the free economy in the free financial system. These have the truth of economic warfare. America's new national strategy is the perpetuation of self-presence in the domination of advanced industries.

Companies are required to provide treatment such as technology management, capital base, and salaries according to global standards. They are correct that globalization is a self-rule in the Western camp and a restructuring of the economy in reality.

These are the precise demands of economic security. If these are the final challenges, the self on equal footing with the world can only enable a future on equal footing.

The Western faction may explicitly deny any presence other than self. Since they are realities, the only option is to construct a self-idea and an existence on par with it.

These are participation in the only reality of power politics. These require a clear judgment of self-security.

Clearing the corporate requirements in these new times is the only condition for participation in the market for companies.

It can be considered that these are behind the capital power seeking the world's occupation and creating a new reality. Therefore, our recommendation against enslavement is equal self-construction, which should require the construction of self-reality and the choice of reconciliation.

They should confront the reality of the Chinese encirclement in forming self-economic groups. These self-foundations are the only ones that can enable a presence in the world.