

The reality caused by the competition principle

Kuroda International Consulting

Takeshi Kuroda

The world has all reality with its base of competition. Economy and democracy are the same as all principles. But asking for all considerations, history has wars that change itself as competition.

It creates a hierarchy and wealth inequality. These are all realities we have today. And trend and seeking all carriers are catching up with all realities.

We find that asking for a consideration of this reality, and we have to know it gives all societal problems. So we may consider new social systems. Even with philosophical ideas, we may deeply think about all truth instead of existence but the future.

In history, we have had a world where survival ruled. All these are based on survival laws.

In technology, we meet a world by Mr. Drucker, but on the other hand, socialism and philosophy may give the other side of the next society.

Since competition inevitably creates inequality, the new ideal of symbiosis can propose equality for all beings.

These give the idea that new socialism with basic income could offer a new idea and reality to the world.

Philosophy asks a question about competition and liberalism but equality and peace.

Liberalism and competition are all creativity and dynamism of the USA, but sociology asks its doubt about inequality and Poverty. New socialism must guarantee a life without poverty. If politics ask for to serve life to all people, all these doubts are right ideas for their effort.

Due to all ideas may be a tail of coming future to solve any problems in society.

If we want a dream, we need a base and condition for it.