

The shared judgment and choice of humanity

July 22nd, 2025

KURODA International Consulting LLC

Takeshi Kuroda

These are the realities. How could we make all decisions in the world? And we may find all new dialogue to share any decision for history and the future.

And under equal value, we may find all new agreements of the world, which may be all new consensus and decisions of the world.

We can finally find that humanity is an equal habit of all human beings, regardless of nationality and race. That is all the reason we can reach the same agreement at last.

Then, following any decision, it may be shared to reconstruct the world with new rules.

And this is the basis on which we can reach an agreement between any nations. That gives us all a new basis to argue the world and solve all confusion and problems under the same idea.

We can imagine that the hands of all nations are rimmed, even when we are trying to be away from any conflict; that is an agreement and cooperation of the world to find new futures.

We are trying to propose all new ideas to an international conference with new world principles.

Politics has decisions, and it gives a new world with many possibilities.

We are not trying to make a decision, but you are.

And it may give a new world to be away from any tragedy, but new hopes for all children.

KURODA International

