

The way to handle and face the world

KURODA International Consulting

Takeshi Kuroda

The world is under-planned. That means we have a future.

W But we can ask for our decision as we are trying to seek a future.

Is there a way we can find the future? That is a reality we have today.

There is one condition we have. We equally stand against NATO. That is what it is. This is what we have to try.

And we could find resistance against the New world order, and there must be a decision from the universe.

Standing against all reality, what could we do against them? That forces us to make the right decision.

Under all these circumstances, we could ask for any contact with space. They may have all their decisions.

United Nations could ask for a new world government. How could we face them with all our ideals? We need to talk our word to the world.

Then we have an idea that. Unification of the whole of Asia is the correct standing point as we may raise our world vision to the world.

We must know that an equal standing point in any environment is only a condition. That permits us to face equally to the world.

This is a choice for us to seek a future. And we could give our decision to the world.