

The world decision

October 11th, 2023

KURODA International Consulting

Takeshi Kuroda

The world's decision is the decision of the future we make now.

There must be the collapse of the world in a reality we see, but we are trying to decide to recreate the world.

We are not trying to follow others but are determined to make new futures.

Great reset is all creation of their world. We find a new word system under new technologies. We may count all new elites in this world.

Fourteen thousand four hundred people must be their kings. They are trying to seek their world.

On the other hand, we are trying to make our world under our decisions.

Under our world vision, we are trying to make all our decisions. That permits any realities we could handle and face any realities.

We may try to seek paradise under new technologies. But we need a proper condition. Politics may ask for their decision to be in touch with all new realities.

Bilateral consultations with all nations are the foundation of these, and seeking reality in building shared consensus is a choice.

We have to reach an agreement that benefits both of us. We are trying to share the world and the future.

Consequences may be any basis we could stand against the world.