

The world design

Kuroda International Consulting

Takeshi Kuroda

The world needs a new system to shift itself to the future. We are trying to propose a new world.

The creation of a world of eternity in the participation of all reason and decency in the world calls upon the world the involvement of its human sources.

We have all new technologies and a new era for participation in whole spaces. The new world system is all from new world design.

On the other hand, we may find—new world order.

But we have a possibility called a future. That is the reason we asked for all new decisions.

Unification and standardization of any system and region could expand all new possibilities and comfortability of all reality under new technologies.

And we have new concerns and participation from the universe under any cooperation to the future as we see all holly wood movies may not be under any imagination but the reality in the future.

These are the new technological civilization lying in front of all our eyes.

New world design could give us a new world. We may try for any agreement by any representatives of any nation. That may be a cooperation of the future.

We asked to be in touch with a world from our office. New future with new hope. That means we do not need the past but a new future.

New skins, new wine. This is gifted from a world to us. And from us to the world.