

The world people may not be unrequited.

KURODA International Consulting

Takeshi Kuroda

How could we serve livelihood to all people? This comes with a duty of politics.

Whom could we judge the world? We have an answer that is how people have their life.

At the end of the moment, we reach for all solutions. Politics must take full responsibility for the world and the future.

We could dream of a future as the new world. And who has a decision? That we find by now.

All these are the political mission required in the new world.

Then we could face a world with its truth. What could we do for the world?

We have all the social valuables in the world. Suppose politics takes responsibility for them. What is the difference in the future?

Politics has a decision of the world. That is all reason we need real politicians. Then we find hope for the future.

We are trying to make full cooperation with the whole world and share the same future.

What is the answer? If we stare into all eyes of the people. We may find the truth.