

The world under new consensus and rules

August 19th, 2024

KURODA International Consulting

Takeshi Kuroda

We try not to hold any conflict but to unify and regularize. These are the new consensus of the world we may share.

We are in the world's conflict, and we spend ourselves in the world. But to seek new futures, we can propose all regularization of the world.

We may reach the truth under a new agreement of all nations. We can find all new realities with all their agreements based on new futures.

The future we envision is one where the latest technologies play a pivotal role, shaping a new world we can all agree upon.

A new argument of international society may create a new reality of the world, which must contain ideals and hopes. Then, we would find all the irony of today's world.

Conflict must be instead with unifications. This is what we can propose to the world.

We have the majority of the world with liberalism and competition. But if it causes any conflict, we may wonder and seek new world systems.

And these are not any separation or conflict which is under all agreement to share the world and the future.

These are under any ideal and dream from our office to the world. But if we make any decision with Courage and action, we can realize them with a world.

If we rim our hands, what can we see with the world? These are all differences from any conflict.

Politics may decide the world for all people with its ambition.

KURODA International
Create the future