

The world unification

October 9th, 2023 Kuroda International Consulting Takeshi Kuroda

The world put itself in a change. This is called great reset. In this period of moment, we are trying to propose a new world vision.

Even under any circumstances, we have a chance to seek our world. We need our world vision. That is what we can work for.

We could make an effort to gather our group of realities to face and handle any validity of the world.

Starting from the Middle East, we put ourselves into any realities of the new world order. There is a timeline they plan as the world follows.

We find the military and economy with the tool of creation of new realities. We could build all our realities to stand against any existence of the world.

We could propose the unification of the world under all agreements by all representatives of the nations. We are trying to unify the world and settle our world government.

We may stand against the world and see that war may be the decision.

We have no step backward, but only forwarding to.
