

Thoughts on the Roman Empire from the one today as America

May 15th, 2024

Kuroda International Consulting

Takeshi Kuroda

All technological progress comes from all environments of their education and university. Liberalism is the basis of their reality, and they stood against the world in the 20th Century and have possessed the world.

The others can not catch any industry under their creativity. And they are taking new steps into the universe.

No one predicted the fall of the Roman Empire. Today, learning from history provides them with further progress in their reality.

All conditions of their lives and society pass on to the next generation. Any fundamental of society is envied by all nations of the world.

However, we believe that modernization is our reality in any nation today. All new businesses are grown by all youth in any regains under its globalization.

This means that new abundance will be given as a new standard for the world. These technological advances are helping the world shift to a new reality.

Shifting to next generated society is their reality in the USA. They have all their bases to move forward.

Liberalism is not only their justice but any tails of their realities.

But they have conflict under their justice. They are standing against any inhumanity under their justice.

If they try to cover the world, the world must accept itself under any realities. Under any governance by its justice, we have judgment and all conflict. Under all these circumstances, we remind a song Let It Be.