The world faces a moment of decision because we all know all the realities of the world.

Politics must make a decision since this is the only possibility we can ask for in reality in the world.

It's easy for the world to lose itself in today's stock market frenzy. And the stock market crash may be a prelude to calling for World War III.

Under all these circumstances, only politics has a decision. They are the only ones who may realize any reality in a world.

We, KURODA International Consulting LLC, may ask for our participation in a world under all changes. We have our vision for the future.

We prefer all new dialogue to a world, and we are the ones who seek the future and share a new world with all people.

If we may conquer the current difficulty, we may reach a new dream. That is all new reality expanding to the whole universe.

We can even redesign all society to a next society. These are all under the decision of all politics.

These are all new ideas that permit us to face the world, and they may cause new realities.

This is the time of decision, and this is the only way we may reach the future.
