

To make the world new

January 30th, 2025

Kuroda International Consulting LLC

Takeshi Kuroda

These are from new consensus and agreement, which all nations should make under its acceptance and agreement. Only this is made possible by all dialogue that agrees with the new world.

We can leave any power games and discuss all responsibility for the world; then, we may reach all new agreements that make the world new.

Humanism is all common, with any basis on which we can argue and agree, which means we have a standard agreement for any reality we have with a world and can make common arguments and decisions.

These are any tails we can seek for the new world and the future. Ideals can be used instead of any reality because we are trying to seek a new future.

By recreating all world systems, we may adjust to the future as we try to recreate everything new.

Agreement on ideals and discussion can make the world a new place.

Politics may take all responsibility for the world and make new decisions to create a new world.

All these are new actions instead of genuine disappointment, but all our hopes in history.

These are the beginning of new dialogues we may find in the future.

These are the discussions all politics may share and try to recreate the world under any progress of ages.

We are trying to propose a new world to the world. We are asking all your decisions.