

To reach the point of no return

February 2nd, 2025

KURODA International Consulting LLC

Takeshi Kuroda

The world is facing a final decision. The future is determined by its plans. We do not have any choices for the future.

At this point, military forces are the only decision we may make. And it is only possible we may find any possibilities with our reality.

So these show all our requirements to be prepared for all its conditions with a nation, even with any alliance we have.

They are given any reality of ours out of any choices. We need to settle our minds for all its future.

Diplomacy should ask for military cooperation under an alliance. We are at the point of no return. These are our final decisions to stand against the world under equal measures.

On the other hand, we may seek solutions in dialogues with other nations. These are the ways how we may seek for the future.

The world must change under President Donald Trump's appearance to reach the final moment. We must be wise and make all our realities to face these changes.

We need our world vision to stand against any world reality for any truth. And we need to stand equally to all its world principles to cause any reality of ours.

Suppose these are the final reality we may be given in the future. We can't move any troops from our being, but we stand still and wait for any opportunity for us to world ourselves.

Peace must be better than any conflict and war. We need all our patience to make victory against the world/