

Ukraine ceasefire

KURODA International Consulting

Takeshi Kuroda

Russia's immediate withdrawal shares the judgment of the International Court of Justice and proposes to agree to a ceasefire in Ukraine.

Only both claims are admissible in international courts. They expose hidden truths in international affairs and demand fair judgment.

Also, the world's past is saturated with war, and the agreement to abolish war takes this opportunity to propose an arrangement for all nations.

These are the Ukrainian realities that all the world's nations are proposing to judge as interested parties. These new frameworks of the international community require a shared judgment on the validity of war.

These agreements in the international community are not condemnation but a shared judgment on the reality of war, and we believe that together with the end of the war era of the past, we can realize an agreement for the unification of the new world.

All these are new creations for the world under all agreements of all its representatives.

Based on all new consensus, we are permitted in a new world. What could we find within? All politics are allowed decisions in the world.

We have to know there is a new world. If the new world is filled up with all hopes that we had in the past. What is all your decision?

We have all new technology. They permit the new world. Expanding any reality to all universes. What can we see in the future? That is a time by now.

And politics have all its decisions. That means all dice are in your hand.
