

Under the collapse of the former International principle

April 2nd, 2025

Kuroda International Consulting LLC

Takeshi Kuroda

President Trump is seeking a new world order to collapse existing structures. We can see that we have international principles, which are all agreed upon by the liberal camp with its humanism.

However, we see that international principles may agree on new futures. These are the latest designs in the world.

These are the designs of the next society with a new lifestyle, as we see society 5.0, industry 4.0, a zero-emission society, and a circular economy.

These are the new dialogues with an international society where we try to share the same futures.

To find any region of the world, we may share the same consensus: the new promise of the new world.

We need to know that all economies create new societies, and capitalism allows possession of all those realities.

Under all these collapses of international rules, we may come up with the idea of proposing new world rules and laws.

We can see that these are new agreements based on new international principles. And we need to know that the only way to reach all new consensus is to ask for new dialogues.

We need to draw a world map if we do not have one. These are under any leadership of any politics since they can recreate the world itself.

We have to ask who has motivation for the new world, and that is who is willing for a new world