

Unification of Asia

July 11th, 2024

KURODA International Consulting

Takeshi Kuroda

We find the world's presence under its power balance. The EU and NATO are measure groups of it.

Then, we have an idea of the unification of Asia as we are trying to make new realities in the world. We even need to face and prepare for any reality in the coming future.

The unification of finance and currency, the unification of the economy, and the unification of the military and space development not only propose a new way of living and society but also promise significant benefits for all involved.

All these are held with the region's new development under new standards, which we refer to as Society 5.0. This concept guides our efforts to take equal steps around the globe and establish new diplomatic relations.

We call for developing unified standards and local industries for the coming digital society and would like to propose cooperation in building a new social infrastructure.

These are proposals for regional unification in the same form as the EU and would involve sharing educational and social systems.

Furthermore, cooperation and unification in the military and space development could share the construction of a new reality regarding cutting-edge technology.

These foundations for the East's participation in the world as an equal will underscore its involvement with new responsibilities and commitments to creating a new world on an equal footing with the West.

These will share the transition to the next generation of society with our industries, and the social education industrial base will build a new society following global standards.