

Unification of all races and nationality, background

KURODA International

Takeshi Kuroda

This is a unification of the world. That is a promise that we share the same world and futures.

These are away from profit but the same ideals.

We all have all tragedy in the past that is contained with wars. That gives us a new agreement that abandons wars and the same futures.

The answer is that we all need the future. That asks we have to ask a decision. Politics have itself with possibilities.

Even we face all reality of the world if we try to ask the new world.

Out of tears, we may seek the world. New technology has its creation of the new world by now.

I am asking about equal rights with white races in the US and black races in Africa.
