

United Nations General Assembly

August 24th, 2024

KURODA International Consulting

Takeshi Kuroda

We propose a new world to a world of conflict, a world that is in dire need of change.

This is our last opportunity to seek a new world at the United Nations General Assembly. Your voices are crucial in building a new world based on the consensus of most nations.

These are the shifts from conflict to unification. We need our vote to decide the world with new ideas.

There are two differences in reality: the new world order and not without it.

If these are wars, we should gather all our military power and go to the General Assembly, and to get the majority is to have the world.

The reality of democracy is to take the majority to possess the world.

Now, you may think it is possible to win the majority of the vote.

And we have contact with the universe. These are all that we have.

We make the choice of love, not hatred.

We need our vision against theirs. They have a new world order.

Choice always gives us a new future. And we have sent any ideas from our office to the world.

We may know we can all make our efforts with a world.

What should be our necessity? We have to step into any reality that is served to us all.

