We can end all the history of the wars. That is a moment we celebrate and say war is over.

From the right point of view, wars only serve pain, suffering, and sorrow. But we may know how to gain all wealth and powers.

These are the correct calculations for all wars in history. We are finally facing all the history, including all its truth.

If the world ends all history of wars, what is next we choose with the future? Are we still seeking wars in the universe? These are all the irony of this planet we have to know.

And we must know what results from a history of all wars.

But these are the new futures after the war. Politics must take over the world with new justice and ideals.

At this moment, the future is a gift to all who are weak. They finally reach their dreams.

These are the sifts to a new generation with all the technology we have today. Then, we may ask what your choice is regarding the new ages.

Above this reality, we have to propose arguing for the new world under any hopes we have held up throughout history, and we have new technology with age. We need to have these full discussions with the whole world, and we need the results.

We may know history is filled with challenges that prove any means of our sufferings and sorrows.

Then, one politician may give the new world under his dreams and ideals because he has his dream of it.
