

When the world finds the way to the future

December 26th, 2025

KURODA International Consulting LLC

Takeshi Kuroda

The world has its choice, and it is the future itself. And the king has it. But if people have it, what difference should it make?

Any progress of humanity may find new possibilities for the future. And today we have a turning point in history where we may find all the uses of new technologies.

We can redesign the world using the progress of any technologies and systems. And our future may expand to the whole universe, regardless of any relationship to universal residents.

All these are possibilities and our choices that may cause new realities. And we are standing at the turning point of all history.

We can see these are the excitement of ages, and we have all our choices to recreate any realities on this planet.

But a choice is always required to decide on any reality. We have our determinations to the world, and we are willing to fight against all realities.

We need to deeply consider redesigning the world, so we insist that we need our tails with a philosophy.

And all progress in academics has its use in making all things new. And these are the creation of the next society itself.

And all politics may determine themselves to realize a new world, but to make it a reality, we need to reach a new global consensus.

We finally reach out to an international society to initiate new dialogues.