We have the last difficulty to conquer, and it may be the choice to reach a future. We may not deny all progress in reality, but to put ourselves in the future.

We have all the evolutionary changes today. Without a doubt, these are the shift to the future.

So we are forced to make our choices today. And the correct answer is to choose the future itself.

Putting ourselves back in reality, we find all politics. And even themselves, they are forced to define the future.

They could dream up a world and send all new visions. These are the recreation of all nations and the world, where they are fully permitted.

Today, a door is opened to the whole universe. We may send new messages to them, even forming new alliances to request the use of their technologies and expertise.

Uncertain is the reality of the world without the matrix. These are our freedoms where we may draw any picture within.

We may see that these are only caused by all political actions, even the creation of a new global consensus.

Even though we have no reality in a world that only we can find from Langley, all these are the truths we may share with the world.

To face any reality of the world, we are forced to make our choices, and these are the only possibilities for us to find the future. Power is the only law of the world, but we can be away from all realities. Only the victory is permitted in the future, and we can see it is the same in any moment of history. Then we are given our choices above all the realities of the world.
