

The world of a new dream

Kuroda International Consulting
Takeshi Kuroda

The world has all history and reached a moment today. We have a future that is under all our decisions.

If a dream is a reality, we may share the world. What do you do? All poverty is solved, and any pain and suffering are conquered. We may share paradise.

These are from political consensus, and we may design the world anew.

We make all calculations for all reality. We may design the world under all agreements and new plans. All further academic progress asks for its use for any reality in society and life.

We have all contact with the universe. We are asking for all cooperation to any possibility that we could work together.

All nations share all these ideas and are trying to share the same world and future.

The globe opposes the world with a dream with disappointment. What is the difference? It must be a decision by its contrast.

We see all revolutionary occurring in reality today. Still, we have a future. But all new technology is a tool we may seek a new world.

The creation of detailed new reality designs and plans in bureaucracy, together with securing expenditures, can suggest creating a new world.

We are facing all new possibilities that force us to make a recent decision. Leading by all political consensus could give a new world.

Let me ask you for all your dreams for a list of any consensus.